BURBANK'S BETTER GARDEN TIPS

VEGETABLES

ARTICLE NO. 6

LUTHER BURBANK IN HIS GARDEN

BY LUTHER BURBANK
World's Greatest Scientific Agriculturist

THE first question of the beginner generally is: "What should I plant?"

The amateur, with a small plot of ground, will find a good vegetable assortment to consist of some of the following plants: Beets, onions, lettuce, carrots, radishes, parsnips, turnips, asparagus, and, in mild climates, artichokes.

Do not attempt to grow in a small garden such vegetables as corn, melons and similar plants, all of which take up too much space.

Beets, onions and radishes are particularly easy to grow.

In arranging the beds remember to keep your paths as straight as possible and plant in rows from 12 to 18 inches apart. It is well to plan the garden paths in advance, always remembering that you must reach all parts of it without tramping upon the plants.

Tomorrow Burbank tells how to raise asparagus.

Ford Got Stuck

Billy Mullaly of New York City had an experience with bad roads in the Pond Creek vicinity Thursday that he will not soon forget. Mullaly, who is manager of a New York City theatrical company, was in Parkersburg, W. Va., on business and decided to run down for a few days' visit with relatives. Mrs. W. A. Lewis of 719 Tenth street is his niece and Mrs. Emma Verrier of Pond Creek his aunt.

He engaged a taxi yesterday and started on the trip to Pond Creek to visit his aunt. On the way it got stuck in a chuck hole in the road and after working in the mud for some time without the taxi moving Ed Simon's faithful Ford, was called upon to pull the mired machine onto solid road. The machine completed the job in fine style and Mullaly was soon on his way again although he would have preferred to have kept to the paved road.

Bill Mullaly's parents were former residents of this city. His father was Patrick Mullaly a melder in the steel mill that once stood in York Park grounds. The family moved from here to Pittsburgh where Billy Mullaly was born. He now makes his home with his sister in New York City.

Blast Furnace To Be Blown Out

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The blast furnace of the A. M. Byers Company, at Girard, will be blown out next week and the entire plant there probably will close soon. It was announced today at the offices of the company, which makes bar iron at Girard and wrought iron pipe at a Pittsburgh plant. The company's stock of raw materials is exhausted, the announcement said, and prices of materials and freight rates are too high to justify replenishing the stock in the "present unsatisfactory condition" of the market. The firm has great piles of finished product in its yards.

To Raise Funds

The Ladies of the Valley Society of the Pleasant Green Baptist church met last evening in regular session. Plans were discussed for raising money for the building fund to be applied to the new church under construction at Fifteenth and Waller streets, and it was decided to give a chicken supper on Thursday, March 30th, at the home of Mrs. Lee Brown on Union street.

Holt Is Better

John Holt, who was recently badly hurt while at work for Cecil S. Miller is much better and will soon be able to leave Morley hospital for his home on High street.

Met Last Night

The ladies of the Pleasant Green Baptist church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Ben Bell on Tenth street, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Jester

Right now, at the approach of Easter Time, milady's thoughts turn to the newest wearing apparel. Of course she wants new footwear and in The Jester she finds something more exclusive than the ordinary run, and yet right up to the minute in style, a patent cross strap sandal with medium heels and toe, light welled soles, popularly priced at six-seventy-five. Better be fitted now and be sure of them.

WORLD-WIDE PROHIBITION
By John Collins Jackson

Does world-wide prohibition seem impossible? So did world-wide abolition a few centuries ago. Today it is an accomplished fact. Slavery no longer exists. State prohibition seemed impossible seventy-five years ago. Maine first proved that it could be. National prohibition seemed impossible even twenty-five years ago. It is written forever into the Constitution of the United States to-day. The liquor trade in foreign lands no longer disbelieves national prohibition to be possible in their own countries. Already have they so much faith in it, and fear of it, that they have organized an international pact against it. Their workers feed upon the reports of the Wets here, that prohibition in America is a failure, and that there is more liquor drunk, and more drunkenness, and crime prevailing from it than with the open saloon; but they know that is not true, as their actions prove. They do not want any such failure of prohibition in their own lands.

The brewers of England and Germany, and the wine-producers of France and Italy seem to have a paid agency for falsifying the facts about prohibition in America. It is the same selfish, avaricious spirit that was ever inseparable from the traffic which lived by bringing poverty, suffering, and death to its patrons, and especially to their innocent wives and children.

Professor Charles W. Soper, of Athens, O., tells us that there was a beer strike in England a few weeks ago, which led the London Morning Post to reveal how egregiously the brewers were deceiving their supporters, even while pleading for them to save their inebriated business from the destruction which has befallen it in America. The Morning Post says: "When the excise duty (tax) on beer was increased nearly 83 a barrel (three or four years ago), publicans (saloon-keepers), were permitted to add 2 pence per pint to the retail price across the counter (the bar)."

"With one accord the trade declared that the imposition of such heavy additional duty (tax) meant ruin to them. So galled were the general public by the exorbitant prices that one took to the trouble to ascertain what the new duty amounted to on a single pint of beer. It really proved to be one half penny on the pint, and on this the publicans were legally entitled to a net profit of 200 per cent. Enough has been said to show that it is time the trade should forthwith examine the whole question, and make drastic reductions all around, as the nation has now paid infinitely more for its drink than it ought to have paid. Now I am having some idea the pockets of the public instead of the state."

"There you have it. That is how it used to be in America. The liquor trade formerly dictated to Congress, and controlled state legislatures, and intimidated courts, and bossed political parties. But where is it today? Who respects it now? And its destruction came largely from its own audacity. Just such arrogance and fraudulent practices as the London Morning Post describes appear to be inseparable from its nature. There is something so degrading in the practice of selling liquid poison to others that it makes the evil-doer brazen-hearted. The rum-seller always defies every law that stands in the way of his greed and gain. The people of America everywhere finally became tired of this outlived, by their practices the liquor trade are now digging their own grave in England, as they did at first in America. France, Germany, Italy, and Russia are in line to learn the same lessons that the rum traffic taught us. France was burdened almost to the breaking point by taxation for wars of previous centuries before the world war. Her taxes now are such as America can scarcely imagine. Yet she goes on with her wine-producing, poverty-making vineyards instead of raising food for her people. Some day her economists will convince her of her folly and that day is nearer than we realize. Alcoholism was so prevalent as a disease before the late war that the governments of both Germany and France called attention to its serious public results. The vineyard countries of Europe cannot get away from it. Dr. Hainisch, president of Austria, severely lectured his fellow-citizens recently for their drinking habits, so sadly out of place with their present food shortage. America's donations saved the lives of thousands of children from starvation in Vienna last year. At the same time, Austria spent more, its president says, for imported wines in the last half of the year than on coal importation. He declared that Vienna alone drank 40,000,000,000 crowns worth of imported wines in the year 1919. It is things like these that are hurrying the rum traffic to its certain death as a finally all over the earth. World-wide prohibition is scheduled to come along inevitably with other reforms of civilization.

CARD OF THANKS

Whereas, The Almighty in his infinite wisdom has seen fit to take from us our little treasure, Dorothy Frances Marie, therefore, we must be resigned to our fate, for we are reminded that it is not our will but Thine be done, though, the void can, seemingly, never be filled.

However, we are pleased that we can express our sincere appreciation and profound gratitude to all who so nobly assisted, and the legion of friends and sympathizers who offered words of condolence, also for the many and too beautiful floral tributes, we are truly grateful. To Rev. Evans for his consoling words, to Miss Connor, Miss Martha Blood, and Miss Elizabeth Patton, for the beautiful and appropriate songs rendered, and to Mr. Smalley for the most excellent and efficient manner in which he conducted the funeral. Again, to all we are profoundly grateful.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not go on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a headache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."

Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

"This sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, migraines, pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times."

THEATRICAL

See Mutt and Jeff at The Sun. An event of more than usual importance is scheduled for the Sun Monday matinee and night. The offering will be "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon play. "Mutt and Jeff in Chinatown". This latest mirth-provoker, brand new and thoroughly up-to-the-minute, is said to be the best of all the series of the wonderful comedies presented thus far. Unlike previous productions, the comedy will be in two acts instead of three as formerly. However, there will be a succession of diverting scenes and surprises, executed on different lines and replete with novelties and features. In this particular piece there is a well defined plot which keeps the action at a merry pace and dispels these inimical gloom destroys in an environment entirely apart from any their heretofore appeared in. Lifting music, pretty girls, urbane, original and exceptional scenic effects and equipment form a welcome adjunct to an exceptional show.

Honoring The Saints

The first commandment does not forbid us to honor the saints. It rather approves of the practice. By honoring the saints, who are chosen friends of God, we honor God Himself. Supreme honor may be paid to God alone. The saints are given an interior honor. By the saints we mean all who died in God's grace and are now in heaven. We honor the saints by trying to imitate their virtues, by celebrating their feasts, reverencing their images and relics, dedicating churches in their names and asking their intercession. The saints, we should especially honor, are Mary, Mother of Jesus; St. Joseph, her spouse, our patron saints and our guardian angels.

SUNDAY USHERS IN THE SECOND WEEK OF CITY-WIDE REVIVAL; SERVICES IN LOCAL CHURCHES

The first week of the city-wide revival is completed and Sunday marks the second week of a special three weeks' series of evangelistic services held in about twenty-five Protestant churches in Portsmouth, New Boston and Seafordville. Last Sunday the revival was opened with a general exchange of pulpits.

Tomorrow the ministers will occupy their regular places but an exchange of pulpits will take place on next Friday night and the Friday night following the same plan being followed as last night when a number of ministers exchanged places. In addition to the special Friday night services the next two weeks several special revivals are to be held in different churches with out of town evangelists conducting the meetings. These revivals will in no way conflict with the general plan of the city-wide campaign. In addition to the Friday night meeting many cottage prayer church making special plans meetings will be held, each for the morning, afternoon and evening meetings.

There are also special Lenten services being conducted at several churches, and the season of prayer is being generally observed in the city, the attendance at all services being gratifyingly large. Many forceful sermons are being delivered as the ministers have worked hard to make the meetings a success.

Will Speak
At the Bible school hour Sunday morning, Donald M. Sheridan, who arrived home Friday evening from Hiram college, will make a short address at the First Christian church. In company with forty-five students of Hiram, Mr. Sheridan recently attended a missionary conference at Alliance, and his talk on Sunday morning will be based on what he saw and heard at that meeting. Carmon Oakley who had planned to accompany Donald home for the spring vacation, was seized with a serious attack of homesickness and changed his mind, taking the train for Chicago, where he will visit with his parents Rev. and Mrs. Charles R. Oakley.

LIVING WATER

At the morning service at All Saints' church tomorrow the pastor will preach on "Living Water" from the text "If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink." There is but one way in which the desire of the soul for peace and security can be gratified. There is but one answer that will satisfy the search for light and truth. This sermon will make plain to you the way to peace and the answer to doubt. You are cordially invited to hear it. At the evening service Mr. Powell will preach on "A Church Member in Good Standing." This subject will be dealt with in plain words and is bound to be of interest to you. You probably never heard it preached about before. Take this opportunity of learning just what a "church member in good standing" ought to be and some of the things he is.

To Conduct Special Services

REV. R. T. KETCHUM

Rev. R. T. Ketchum is a popular preacher of Butler, Pa. He is to be the speaker at the First Baptist church, Galia and Waller streets, for the next two weeks starting Tuesday, March 28.

This is a special pre-Easter campaign and services will be held every night at 7:15 o'clock. Advance notices say Rev. Ketchum is a whirlwind and tornado combined and one that certainly stirs the dust. During the past winter a large theatre was secured at Butler and every Sunday night he has been speaking to banner crowds. In addition he has been doing special conference work.

WILL USE NEW CHURCH TOMORROW

The new First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 1406 Lincoln street, will be used for the first time Sunday, when services will be held in the morning. The new church was formerly the Andrew Rice home, which has just been completely remodeled.

by carpenter contractor James Pfeiffer and painter J. S. Cunningham. The congregation held meetings in the public library basement for sometime after their church on Second street, near Chillicothe, was razed.

Revival Meetings At Franklin M. E.

The special revival services at the Franklin Avenue M. E. church will begin on Wednesday evening, March 29. There will be regular preaching services each evening at 7:15, excepting Saturdays. The pastor, Rev. C. E. Sverdrup, will be assisted by his sister, Mrs. Anna Smith, of Rushville, Indiana.

Mrs. Smith has been engaged in evangelistic work for over 20 years, assisting her husband, who just one year ago was called to his heavenly reward, taking sick during one of her meetings in the northern part of this state, and passing away after a brief illness of four weeks.

Mrs. Smith will have charge of the music, and we are sure you will enjoy both her solo work and the chorus singing. She is also a gifted speaker, and you will get to hear her in special meetings that will be announced from time to time. These meetings are to continue until Easter Sunday. The public is most cordially invited to attend all of these meetings. The group prayer meetings will be continued in the homes, the same as during this past week. These meetings are proving quite helpful. While only a few of them were largely attended, the interest manifested was splendid. The total attendance at the 40 meetings arranged for by this church was 275.

Junior Church Service At Bigelow M. E.

The junior church service which has proved so popular among the children of Bigelow church will be continued tomorrow morning at the same hour as the regular morning teaching service. Rev. N. E. Butler will speak on "Bible Times and Customs," a subject which will be illustrated with blackboard drawings and will prove interesting to boys and girls of all ages.

GREAT REVIVAL SWEEPING TERMINALS

The Spirit of God was present in mighty power last night at the Terminal revival meetings. His presence has been manifested in a wonderful way all week. Since Sunday night there have been thirty-eight conversions, adults, young people and children, and the end is not yet. There are still many who are under deep bondage and prayer is being offered without ceasing that they will be free for God.

We were favored last night by the presence of Miss Helen Childers, of Mt. Ora, Ohio, of Maundy church, singing "There Is No Other Savior" very impressively. The last night was "With Thee, O Lord, I Will Sing," John 5:20. The large congregation gave earnest and thoughtful attention to the message. We are expecting another great time Sunday evening. Miss Hannah Fowler will be present and sing again. She has favored us several times and the folks enjoy her singing very much. Miss Fowler will sing again by request "Life's Railway To Heaven," the favorite song of the railroad men.

DR. KNAPP OPENS U. B. REVIVAL

A long distance telephone message from Evangelist Knapp this morning said that he would arrive in Portsmouth at midnight tonight and would begin his work at the Sunday School at 9 o'clock.

Knapp is anxious that the evangelism of the Sunday School be continued tomorrow morning, rain or shine, and that every member try to be a visiting friend that the Sunday School may have one of the largest attendances in the history of the school. Throughout the campaign of Sunday School evangelism will be emphasized and the Sunday School officers and members should enter into the spirit of the campaign at once. The teachers are all invited to sit with their classes during the hour of morning worship when Dr. Knapp will make his opening address of the campaign.

Big Demand For Tickets

Wise, pastor of the Free Church of New York, who speaks at high school auditorium next Tuesday night have been placed at the following places: The Book Store, Brantley's, The Book Store, Wurster's, Kline's, Anderson's, Hordow's, and Woodmen Mill Company, Rosen and The Fashion.

He is being brought here by the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith for the benefit of the new Jewish Temple. Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Two dreams oozed out, like smoke out of a pipe

NANCY and Nick were sleeping peacefully under a nice bush in the pleasant valley between the Electric Mountain and the Elderdawn Mountain when Twelve Tunes left the magician's star and flew to a place in the dark sky right over their heads. He had turned into a bat, you know.

Then he untied the string of the bag he carried and two dreams oozed out like smoke out of a pipe. These dreams, unlike smoke, went down instead of up, and made straight for the Twins.

One dream whispered to Nancy, "It's morning and you and Nick are awake. Get up and walk in the direction I shall show you. You will be over the rest of the Seven Mountains before nightfall."

The other dream whispered the same thing to Nick.

So Nancy got up and Nick got up and the two of them began to walk in their sleep, but in opposite directions.

They both dreamed that they were walking over the Elderdawn Mountain and over the Chocolate Mountain and over the Five-and-thousand store Mountain and over the Mountain-that-wasn't-there!

But really, Nancy was walking away from the mountains, eastward, and Nick was walking away from them, westward, leaving the last record near the place they had been sleeping.

If Nancy had kept on she would have walked over a high cliff, and if Nick had kept on he would have walked into a thorny patch where sharp thorns would have torn him to pieces.

But again the red feather rescued them. It jumped out of Nick's pocket and, stretching itself on the ground, caught Nick's toe just as he was about to take his last step. That woke him.

Then lying after Nancy the feather did exactly the same thing. Another step would have brought her to the edge of the precipice. But her toe caught, she tripped, fell, and awakened!

"Where am I?" she cried. "And where's Nick? What's happened?"

BRINGING UP FATHER

I Will Permit No One To Interfere With Operation Of My Court--Judge Thomas

The following from the Cleveland Plain Dealer is of interest here:

"Common Pleas Judge James S. Thomas of Portsmouth, O., sitting in criminal court here, declined yesterday to discuss his disposition of a criminal case with Frank J. Merrick, attorney for the Cleveland Automobile Club, who called, he said, to protest against the sentence. The case was that of Carl Steedly, who pleaded guilty to carrying a revolver, and Judge Thomas sentenced him to thirty days in the workhouse and fined him $200, the prison term to be suspended if he paid the fine in two weeks. Judge Thomas said he had refused to talk with Merrick about the case because of statements last week by Secretary Fred H. Caley of the automobile club that visiting judges were "small town Hicks" and were too lenient toward criminals of Cleveland.

especially automobile thieves. Caley last night declared the prisoner had been given a "ridiculously light sentence" and asserted that Judge Thomas had not gone into the whole court record of the case. Judge Thomas said he told Merrick he would permit "no one to interfere with the operation of my court."

"Warning To Farmers Buying Seed Potatoes"

"U. S. Certified" is no guide in buying seed potatoes, as it means only that potatoes are fit to eat, says officials at Washington. Dealers who offer seed potatoes as "United States Certified" misuse the Government Certification and misrepresent the seed they offer for sale.

This is the gist of a letter just received by H. C. Ramsower, Ohio Director of Extension, from C. B. Smith, Head of Federation Extension Work in Agriculture, who suggests that the warning be made general throughout Ohio.

Mr. Smith quotes a recent pronouncement of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, to the effect that the United States does not certify potatoes for seed, but only for table use.

"Potatoes may be good 'U. S. No. 1' grade, but be absolutely worthless for seed. No one can judge the quality of seed stock by examination of the tubers, and so the Food Products Inspection Service certifies grades only for table use," the Washington officials state.

The "U. S. Certified" seed can usually be bought much cheaper than the 3X Certified Seed, but according to the above warning we might just as well plant home grown seed as the so-called "U. S. Certified." Therefore, in buying Certified Seed potatoes, dealers and farmers should know who is responsible for the certification.

"Boys' And Girls' Club Work" The "Willing Workers" food club of Madison Community report an enrollment of twelve members as follows: Anna Deemer, Fay Allen, Ruth Coles, Garnett Eckhart, Nellie Lyons, Ruby Crawford, Chloe Montgomery, Roseanna Coles, Marie Brown, Elma Brown, Avril Brown, Gayle Haulaway.

This club won the Silver Trophy Cup given last year by the Fair Association for the club having the highest average score. This cup is to be given each year to the club ranking highest until one club has won it three years when it then becomes their property. The members of the "Willing Workers" Club with their leader, Mrs. Lucy B. Fullerton, unite in stating that the food club that takes the beautiful cup away from them must do some real work this year. The club meets April 15th to reorganize.

"Dress Form Work" How to make a dress form? This is the question much discussed by rural women throughout the county. Every woman will have the opportunity of learning how to make this inexpensive form as demonstrations are being given by the leaders of this work throughout the county as rapidly as can be arranged for. We wish to make this statement to the rural women in behalf of the leaders in this work. "That it is not possible to conduct a satisfactory demonstration so that each one may learn just how to do the work, when more than twenty are present. Therefore, should you not be notified of this or that demonstration just remember that each person who attends one of these demonstrations may well become a demonstrator by instructing all interested ladies in her immediate community; if interested, have some one who has attended a demonstration to come to your home at which time a few of your neighbors may be invited to see this valuable article made. Yourself and neighbors may then become demonstrators and thus goes the endless chain.

According to reports received at the Farm Bureau office the work is progressing very rapidly. Demonstrations were held this week as follows: At the home of Miss Gladys Coburn, Minford, Ohio, where two forms were made under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Heli and Miss Lena Snyder, with thirteen ladies present. In the Haverhill community demonstrations were held at the Grange Hall and the home of Mrs. Frank Oakes where two forms were made under the direction of Mrs. S. V. Selby and Mrs. Frank Oakes. Sixteen were present.

The aim as designated in the community program is five forms to be made. The leaders say they will more than double this number. In the Meads Community a demonstration was conducted at the home of Mrs. Frank Adams with thirty-one ladies present. Two forms were made under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Adams and Miss Agnes Turner.

A demonstration is arranged for next Thursday, March 30th, at the home of Mrs. Otto Zoellner which will be under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Ranshaw and Mrs. W. S. Burke.

"Farm Bureau School" The Farm Bureau School conducted

Thursday for the benefit of officers and project leaders was a decided success. Judging from attendance, enthusiasm and comments made by many who attended. More than sixty men and women were present to hear and discuss the needs of real community work, plans for conducting the various programs as outlined in the fifteen organized communities and the manner and means of reaching these folks who apparently do not recognize the needs of a real optimistic, live wire, working group of people and who do not seem to assume any responsibility for the betterment of themselves, their home, community, county, state and nation. Every community and township was represented by one or more men and women with the exception of Garden and Clay Townships. Madison and Sunshine Communities carried away the honors in number of attendance.

In going over the various community programs throughout the county it was found to the great satisfaction of all present that some part of the outlined program was being carried out and all went home with a greater determination to put across the whole program all of which may come under one or more of the following heads:

Farm Activities which includes economical production, economical marketing and economical purchasing of a few staple products. Home Activities including clothing work, labor saving problems, health and nutrition problems. Boys' and Girls' Club Work, including Pig, Calf, Poultry, Food and many others. The four named being conducted in Scioto county. Community Activities, including church, school, road and social problems. Legislative Activities, having to do mostly with State and National Affairs.

Detroit Industrial Heads Join In Action To Solve Jobless Situation For Idle Ex-Soldiers

DETROIT, MICH., March 25.—

(By the Associated Press)—A material improvement in the employment situation here is generally expected as a result of action taken within the past few days by industrial heads and which included announcement last night that all employees of the Ford Motor Co., many of whom have been working not more than three days a week, would be placed on a straight five days a week schedule. Heads of other factories have joined the movement to find places for idle ex-soldiers, many of whom have been put to work this week.

3,273 Added To Pay Roll

The weekly report of the Employers' Association, of which 79 industrial corporations are members, shows that for the week ending March 21, a total of 3,273 men were added to the pay rolls, bringing the aggregate to 129,324. This total is approximately 25,000 below the figure regarded as normal.

Shortage of Skilled Workmen

The report adds that an actual shortage of certain highly skilled workers faces the automotive industry and this statement agrees with a recent report by headquarters of the auto workers' union, which declared practically every man who could properly be classed as an experienced auto worker, was employed. There still exists, however, a large surplus of unskilled workers.

The Ford announcement of adoption of the forty hour week stated that approximately 3,000 additional men would be employed at the Highland Park plant under the new plan, for the production schedule will be maintained, although the plant is to be closed on Saturdays and Sundays. $5 Minimum for New Ford Workers

The new policy was prompted, according to E. J. Ford, the president, by the company's desire to furnish work for men now idle, and to extend, through an additional day of rest, the employee opportunity for self-development.

Old employees will continue to receive the $6 a day minimum wage, but new men will receive a minimum of $5.00.

ALLIES TRYING TO PLUG NEWS LEAK ABOUT MEETINGS

PARIS, March 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The allied foreign ministers, who are discussing Near Eastern questions here, are trying to plug the news leaks in their own delegations after the publication yesterday of accounts of the differences over the disposition of the Armenians in Asia Minor.

The Marquis Curzon, British foreign secretary is reported to have complained emphatically to Premier Poincare against such matters becoming public. M. Poincare, summoned before the cabinet, a newspaper man who refused the sources of his information, but absolved the French delegation.

Lord Curzon is then said to have asked Poincare for "protection against French press methods," whereupon the French foreign office officials examined another reporter. He was as secretive as the first, however, so the foreign ministers finally decided the only means of preventing publication of confidential matters would be to keep the members of their delegations from talking.

M. Schmeizer, a strong advocate of the league, is said to have particularly urged this solution, while M. Poincare and Lord Curzon are understood to welcome any plan that will relieve them of a problem which thus far has developed only trouble and contributed to irritation between the two allies.

Blair's Permit To Box Withdrawn By Commission

Following an editorial which appeared in Saturday Morning's Sun directing the attention of the local boxing commission to the fact that Leroy "Nig" Blair had been fined in the court yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl, resulted in the commission issuing the following statement Saturday:

The Portsmouth Boxing Commission desires to announce that the permit allowing Leroy "Nig" Blair to engage in a boxing exhibition in this city March 25th, has been withdrawn.

Even to Blair's most ardent admirers and to the boxing fans at large, the commission feels that the explanation of its action in this matter is necessary.

It is with considerable regret we learn through our daily newspapers of the many indiscretions which resulted in Blair's arrest and his admission of guilt before the Probate Court.

The Commission feels that to permit Blair to appear in a public exhibition at this time would be an injustice to the sport and a gross dereliction of duty upon our own part as members of the Commission.

We are certain the real sportsmen and boxing fans of Portsmouth will commend our action in this unpleasant matter fully realizing our primary duty as commissioners is to maintain boxing upon a high and clean-cut standard. This course we shall continue to pursue at all times.

In conclusion it is our hope that Blair will profit by our action to the extent that his deportment in the future will be of such nature as to warrant this Commission to submit the matter of his re-instatement to public opinion at some future date.

Respectfully submitted,
THE PORTSMOUTH BOXING COMMISSION.

To Protect Public Against Stale Bread

J. X. Tracy and Edwin Jones, state inspectors of the Food and Dairy Department under R. M. Black, chief of division, have been in the city several days calling upon the bakers and grocers and explaining the pure food laws, impressing upon them especially the provisions with reference to clean shops and stores and the exchange of bread.

Messrs. Tracy and Jones found nothing to condemn but much to praise in regard to sanitation. They however, stated that they had found some who were disregarding the law with reference to the exchanging of bread. It is violating the law explicitly when grocers insist upon unsold stale bakers relieving them of whole bread by replacing the same with freshly baked bread. The inspectors were gracious enough to let off the offenders with warnings, but added that any further offenses of this kind would meet with prosecution. They add that when an exchange of bread is made the grocer is equally guilty with the baker. This provision, they stated before leaving the city, was made to protect the public against securing stale bread and will be rigidly enforced in the future.

Call Parley In Irish Situation

BELFAST, March 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Sir James Craig today received a telegram from Winston Spencer Churchill, imperial secretary for colonies, inviting him to a conference in London on the Irish situation. The premier replied that the message would receive the earnest consideration of the northern government, and that a further reply would be sent shortly. The Ulster cabinet has been summoned to meet on Monday for other business and it is understood Secretary Churchill's invitation will be considered at that time.

A member of the cabinet expressed the belief that most caused by the revision of the boundary clause in the Anglo-Irish treaty was responsible for the present disorders in Belfast.

Suggests Reservoir System For Lucasville

Lucasville's position in regard to a water works system was explained to the board of directors of the Lucasville Betterment Association Friday afternoon by Virgil Overholt, specialist in agricultural engineering at Ohio State University, Columbus, who made a survey of water works prospects in that village and community Friday morning and afternoon.

The first inspected proposed springs for a source of water supply but only found one that had a supply sufficient for the needs of the village. This spring, he explained to the directors, is too far away from the village to be of much use as it would cost too much to pipe the water.

Engineer Overholt explained that the best proposition would be to drive a well or two and to build a reservoir on the hill nearest the village, such a reservoir to give a 50 pound pressure. He estimated the cost at less than $10,000 which included the sinking of the wells, building of a concrete reservoir and laying of mains and small pipes all over the village. It is possible the cost may be cut down to $5,000. The engineer was very enthusiastic over the survey, stating that Lucasville with hills nearby has a favorable condition for a water supply with the reservoir system. Electric power for pumping could be obtained from the village light plant.

The matter will be taken up at the regular meeting of the Betterment Association to be held April 14.

FIRST "AUTOMOBILE MARRIAGE" PERFORMED

In a hurriedly planned and most unusual wedding such as took place on Glenwood avenue, New Boston, Friday afternoon, it is often necessary for the officiating minister or the couple to scurry around and find witnesses, but yesterday, when Mrs. Eva O. Rice, 46, of New Boston, and Jacob T. Reeves, 31, of Harrisonville, W. Va., were married while passengers in an automobile, they not only had with them the two necessary witnesses, but also many other unselected witnesses, this list of "guests" including residents of Glenwood avenue, who hurried outdoors to be witnesses to the first automobile marriage performed in Scioto county.

Mr. Reeves and his bride-to-be were brought to the court house about one o'clock Friday afternoon by Andrew Wilburn, grocer of Gallia street, New Boston. Music Memory Contest

Auspices of Ladies' Musicale

Blue Danube Waltz, Johann Strauss.

Ave Maria, Bach-Gounod.

Minuet in G, Ludwig van Beethoven.

The above three selections are re-broadcast for the fourth week of study in music appreciation by the Music Memory Contest. All of them, although classical, are popular and well known to the general public. Three generations have danced many a night to the inspiring music of Blue Danube Waltz by Johann Strauss, celebrated Waltz King of Vienna. This composition was written soon after the battle of Koenigsberg in 1861, when the city of Vienna was unusually saddened and depressed by the Austrian defeat. It was received with wild enthusiasm and Theodore Thomas introduced it to America a few months after Strauss played it in Vienna and it soon became the popular waltz of the entire world.

Fair Board Meets; Will Boost Live Stock Feature

Several important matters were taken up at the regular meeting of the Scioto County Fair Board held at the Lucasville Fair grounds Friday afternoon with most of the members in attendance.

The most important change was in the live stock entry and premium list. This year the live stock premium list will be governed by the same rules and regulations that apply to the larger fairs that are held in the state and at the state fair.

The new rule is that the number of entries will regulate the number of premiums. The larger the entry list the larger the number of premiums and bigger the amounts of premiums to be awarded. The entry list will also be open to live stock owners from all over the state and entries in other fairs in the state or Ohio state will be of the best.

The board also decided not only to grade the new parking ground just south of the fair grounds but also to grade the parking place inside the fair grounds proper.

The secretary reported the soft drink and lunch stand privileges sold. It was also reported that a new food dining room service had been secured for this year's fair, permit being sold to a Columbus concern. Therefore the dining room service has not been what the Fair Board desired but this year they have received a guarantee that the service will be of the best.

Tragic Story

Further information furnished by members of the crew of the rescue ship indicate that the first woman to collapse was Mrs. Smith and that it was she who in frenzied panic jumped overboard. The rescuers believe that from what Pilot Moore said it was her husband who either sought to save her, or, knowing that death was likely near for all in party, sought to join her in death.

This left Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Dickson as the two women who failed and were held for seven and a half hours in Moore's arms. Moore in his delirium continues to declare that he did the best he could to keep them alive and that when they fell all he could do was to drop their bodies overboard. "Mother, mother, I held on to them as long as I could," he moaned.

Moore's mind has not yet sufficiently cleared to enable him to tell a connected story as to his probable location when Mrs. Smith and her husband jumped overboard nor his location when the two women did but as they were drifting northward in the gulf stream, old seamen believe that the two sets of bodies must have gone to their watery graves several miles apart. Plans were being made this afternoon to recover the bodies.

The Magic Carpet

YOU could sit on the fabled carpet of Bagdad and view the world. In the whisk of an eyelash it would carry you any place you wanted to go. All you had to do was wish.

Advertising is a sort of magic carpet. Read it and in the twinkling of an eye you can review the merchandise of the world, pictured and displayed for your benefit.

You can pick up this paper and in fifteen minutes know what the different shops are offering in the way of fabrics, patterns, varieties and qualities of almost anything you want.

The advertisements introduce you to the latest styles—the newest comforts for the home—the best of the world's inventions. They tell you how to buy, where to buy and when to buy. They keep you posted on things necessary to feed and clothe you and your family and make you comfortable and happy.

Read the advertisements as a matter of education. Read them to keep abreast of progress.

THE ARMENIAN ISSUE

IN appealing to congress and President Harding on behalf of the Armenians who are being slaughtered by the Turks and Kurds, the Near East Relief Association has raised a moral issue which it is difficult to ignore. Millions of dollars have been raised for the Armenians in this country and even more assistance will be forthcoming if there are any survivors left to receive aid.

It should be remembered that the Armenians were not only the allies' friends in the great war, but valiant comrades-in-arms. They fought for the allies to the extent of their ability. It is suggested in a resolution introduced in congress by Representative Rogers of Massachusetts, that President Harding take up with Great Britain, France and Italy the question of calling a conference "to consider methods by which the Armenians may establish themselves as a nation." By the treaty of Versailles an Armenian republic was set up, but it collapsed under the assault of the Turkish and bolshevik troops, while the allies refused to lend their aid.

It is hard to explain the apparent indifference of the allied powers to the Armenians' fate. Owing to the large number of Mohammedan subjects in India, the Turks have long had a "pull" with Great Britain, but it was thought that with the ending of the war there would be a new deal. But for some mysterious reason no nation seems to want to interfere with the Turks.

Secretary Hughes has recently reasserted America's traditional policy of aloofness from European political quarrels and entanglements, but certainly this country is justified in making a strong moral protest in behalf of the Armenians, especially since Americans are so willing to render material assistance to those who are a proper charge upon European generosity.

KEEP OLD GLORY ON THE SEAS

WHILE the war-conceived American merchant marine has cost the country a "pretty penny" and will continue to make a drain on the treasury for some time to come, it is far from being a total loss and eventually may prove able to carry itself. There are some positive compensations for the outlay made and continuing, as revealed in the annual report of the shipping board.

Before the war ships of United States registry carried but 9.7 per cent of our foreign trade, while in the last fiscal year they carried 39.8 per cent. True, this shows a falling off as compared with the record of 1920, but the maintenance of business by our ships to this extent proves that there is a satisfactory future for the enterprise if conditions are made suitable.

The falling freight rates and other causes to which the board refers as contributing to the decline of American cargoes for American craft signify the increase of competition, which will grow as foreign merchant fleets depleted in the war are restored to normal numbers, and navigation laws are made more favorable for competing carriers.

Old Glory having been made familiar in every port of the globe, the peoples of the world should not be permitted again to forget what it looks like.

LOTS OF SUNS

STARGAZERS have not always been taken seriously but they have their mission if only to keep common folks from getting the big head. Most of our ideas of bigness are relative. The country boy marvels at the bigness of the county seat. Few become so travel wise as not to be impressed by the magnitude of the earth.

But a world association of astronomers is engaged in a work which in the imagination capable of grasping it, reduces our earth to a speck of dust. On Mt. Wilson, using the huge Hooker telescope, and simultaneously in the observatory at Arequipa, Peru, the work of photographing the entire area of the starry heavens goes forward. The result is a revelation even to the astronomers.

Years of arduous toil will be required to complete the task, but already enough has been accomplished to give the basis of stupendous estimates. Already the experts are predicting that the count of suns will total more than 3,000,000,000. And most of these billion suns are bigger than our luminary.

To the fellow who gets an exaggerated notion of his own importance a few suggestions of universal bigness may be salutary. Let him think of our great world, 25,000 miles in circumference. Then tell him that big as our world is, 330,000 of them would be required to make a mass of the size of our sun. And then lead him on to imagine 3,000,000,000 other suns, each, perhaps, encircled by its own system of planets, and every sun of them bigger than our sun, and then ask him how much he stacks up in such a layout. Nothing could be better devised for the reduction of a magnified ego.

When a trusted employee leaves suddenly the chances are he does not leave much.

The one point on which Mme. Matzenauer and her "the poor cent" husband are agreed is that they don't agree on anything.

The allies seem to think that mention of a slight expense incurred by the United States in the vicinity of the Rhine is talking shop.

ISAAC BLESSES JACOB.

ISAAC was old and could not see. He wanted to give Esau his blessing as the first born. Rebekah heard this and persuaded Jacob to pretend to be Esau that he might receive the blessing, which he did and Isaac was deceived. When Esau found what had been done it made him very angry. He hated Jacob and threatened to kill him. Then Isaac blessed Jacob and he was sent away by his parents to his Uncle Laban in Padamaram.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 25.—Down on Lafayette street, a roadway that roars with heavy trucking, and in the shadows of that bleak forbidding pile of stone The Tomb is a trim three-story building whose entrance is marked with a brass sign reading "Animal Hospital."

It is built along the lines of a human hospital, having white tiled dispensaries and operating rooms. There are separate wards and isolation wards for those having contagious diseases. White clad nurses and doctors await the patients.

In the rear are two motor ambulances ready to answer the call of distressed canines who may be ill or victims of accidents. The hospital is not for the pampered pets but for "charity patients." Greater New York has 250,000 licensed dogs.

The hospital is the tribute of a delicate woman's love for animals. The woman is Mrs. James Speyer, wife of a rich New York banker. Mrs. Speyer passed on a year ago. She had wanted a hospital of this kind for many years, but the New York Women's League for Animals did not have the necessary money.

One day at the conclusion of a meeting a letter was handed to Mrs. Speyer. When she opened it out tumbled a check for $25,000. It turned out later that the check was sent by Mr. Speyer—and with this as a start the money was raised.

Stray cats and horses are taken care of at the hospital, but it is chiefly for dogs. The attendants are men who love animals. Their devotion is marked by an unusual tenderness toward the afflicted dumb animals.

Up in Central Park every Saturday the New York croquet club holds a tournament. Only snow or rain stops them. The players look as if they might have stepped from the Mid Victorian period. They wear detachable cuffs and carry snuff boxes. Nearly all have gray beards and white hair. There is a dignified courtesy about their playing that is not noticeable in other sporting events. Up in Van Cortlandt Park there are two cricket fields that are in use almost daily. The game is played mostly by West Indian elevator boys.

Don Marquis, the Sun columnist, has recovered from a serious illness. He says that when he was stricken he searched New York for an old-fashioned general practitioner and was unable to find one. In fact there are none in the city. The medical field here has only specialists, a doctor who treats, for instance, the ear will rarely treat the throat. He sends the patient to the throat specialist. Marquis said he had so many things the matter with him that he could not have found time to visit all the specialists in a day's time. But he recovered anyway.

They dance professionally in a hotel cafe where nightly the spotlight halos them as they glide and spin as lightly as two dandelion puff-balls. She wears gold and silver spun dresses and he is immaculate in light-fitting evening clothes. At midnight they motor to New Jersey and during the day they wear overalls and raise chickens on their farm. Next door to their little place is a former ballet master who is their teacher. He advised them to live in the open. "It is impossible to get the spirit of the dance in crowded cities," he said.

IF YOU ARE WELL BREED.

You will not overstay at an afternoon tea. Remember that the hostess has the dinner meat coming on.

You will, when leaving a reception, take leave of the hostess unless she is so surrounded with people as to make this difficult.

You will, when hostess at a reception where people are coming and going through the afternoon, remain in fairly much the same place.

Edith's eyes were baby blue And her hair of golden hue: Ah, I thought her heart was true. All her ways so winsome were. Yet, one day, another came Her pure loveliness to claim: Now she wears his ring and name— And I'd been so sure of her! Bertha's brown eyes tempted, lured, Ah, the anguish I've endured When the bliss which seemed assured Was withheld in coquetry! So she's gone her wilful way, Happy, flourishing, I pray— I'm well off alone today— And she was so sure of me!
